GENERAL NOTES

In cases where freight trains are not running in their scheduled times as shown in the Working Time Tables, they must run in accordance with the point to point running times laid down for the class of train concerned and Guards must account for all time lost in excess of that so shown. When short of a load the trains must run between point and point in less than booked running time. In those cases where an express freight train is timed faster than the usual point to point timings the higher speeds must be adhered to.

When the load of a freight train (except Class C) does not exceed the load for a higher class of freight train and the condition of the loads, type of engine, and other circumstances are suitable, the train must run at a higher rate of speed and the head lamps must be altered accordingly. Such alterations must be arranged with the Control Offices and signalman at the point where the alteration is made and the guard must record the alteration on his journal.

The times of arrival and departure of freight trains at stations and sidings are based on the normal requirements, but whenever practicable and desirable the trains must be got away earlier by arrangement with control.

No freight trains must make a special stop for the purpose of attaching or detaching, without the consent of the Controls.

Station Masters, Yard Masters and Inspectors must carefully consider the requirements of the traffic and arrange for the withdrawal of any train or pilot engine which may not be required, taking care to advise the Motive Power Department and all other persons concerned, sending a report of the circumstance to the District Operating Superintendent. (These arrangements must be made through Controls.)
