GENERAL NOTES.

When trains are running so much out of course that there is a likelihood of Guards not reaching terminal or other stations in time to take up their booked working in the Rosters, they must wire the station concerned at the first opportunity, so that another guard can be provided to take up temporarily the booked working, until the proper Guard can resume his normal working at that or some other point.

The time for signing on duty before the departure of the train and signing off duty under ordinary circumstances after the arrival of the train, is 15 minutes, except where stated to the contrary.

After completion of their train duties, guards having time available before taking charge of another train, or booking off, must, unless shown to the contrary, report to the Inspector or other person in charge for instructions as to other duties required of them during the interval
